

21 July

Last disc. on jury: AR & I say to pass,
so as to put Mrs. Gordon beyond ^{Pres.} challenge.

That means we have to accept Wiegand instead of Schless, whom we all prefer; but Jay says,
"I'll be happy with a long jury." CW: "a McDonough victory."

Defence passes.

Lottery: Which will they take? S. Moser. (I suspect
they have background + voir dire data, not personality;

others I expect Corbin to be challenged).

They take Moser. Vanduchin comes on.

Pres. fights our pass - says they are should lose all challenges - in reverse order of call.

Clear they are desperate to keep off Gordon - which is reassuring.

We shall. Vanduchin. Gordon comes on.

— After jury is sworn, Mrs. Gordon raises her hand - she doesn't think she was questioned enough.

She has 2 brothers-in-law who were attorneys,
+ a nephew.

Pros. wants her questioned privately, since
"she ~~is~~ wants to clear her conscience, wants to discharge something."

⊗ LW, CN, CB argue at sidebar (CB first): "In reality, Pros. wants the jury off, and we want her on." We would object to private questioning. Mrs. wants her asked if she can render fair & impartial judgment: we object.

Finally, Judge asks her in open court —
Direct of her relations work for Prosecutors?

"No. — I just had it on my conscience."

[L, to CB: "If juries didn't have peculiar conscience, there would be no ~~any~~ trial here."
